

PSO1: Design and develop computing systems inculcating the best practices for hardware implementation and software programming.

PSO2: Ability to provide discerning solutions based on the expertise in networking, database administration, distributed applications development and entrepreneur practices to the various societal needs.